Dear Friends,

Welcome to The Leadership Challenge Forum 2014! Thank you for taking the time to join us in Leading Change from New Orleans and Around the World. Inspired by our host city, we’ve built a learning experience that takes cues from its triumphant rebirth and distinct local culture. Over the next two days, you will have the opportunity to learn from some of the best and the brightest in The Leadership Challenge community.

In particular:

We will address how challenges spur leaders to perform at their personal best, as put forth in our new short-form book, Turning Adversity into Opportunity, a copy of which each attendee will receive.

Hear from our stellar keynoters who have unique insights into the practice of Challenge the Process and leadership in general—courage-building expert Bill Treasurer and change management author Jennifer Robin.

Laissez les bon temps rouler at our Networking Night in the I-Club.

Whether case study, skill-building, or activity, we hope you take advantage of all concurrent session programming to learn from each other’s experiences and come away with actionable ideas to drive change in your own work.

Join us for the closing general session--the first-ever New Orleans-style jam session inspired by The Leadership Challenge.

We hope this year’s Forum will inspire you to embrace the chance to make a difference. We thank you for all that you do.

Love ‘em and Lead ‘em,

Jim Kouzes and Barry Posner

“Ask an Expert” Consultations
We have recruited a handful of individuals who have been working with The Leadership Challenge® for many years in many different settings to meet with Forum attendees who request an appointment in advance to discuss their individual interests, questions, and challenges. During the registration process, you were given an opportunity to indicate your interest in participating and you should have already received your appointment time. If you have any questions or concerns about your consultation, please leave a message at the Information Desk for Jessica Porterfield.

Clean the World
The Leadership Challenge Forum is proud to partner with Clean the World Foundation. Since 2009, Clean the World has been leading the Global Hygiene Revolution to distribute recycled hotel soap and hygiene products to the people who need them most. To date, Clean the World has distributed more than 17 million bars of soap in 96 countries. More than 2,000 hotels participate in the recycling program. Forum attendees will have to the opportunity to contribute to this cause by assembling hygiene kits for the homeless and families in transition throughout North America.

Turning Adversity Into Opportunity
Turbulent. Disruptive. Chaotic. Unexpected. Unpredictable. Changing. These words have come to define what normal means these days. They also define the circumstances that demand leadership. In their over three decades of research, Jim Kouzes and Barry Posner, the bestselling authors of The Leadership Challenge, have asked thousands of leaders to describe their personal-best leadership experiences, and across the board, people say their greatest moments arise out of the most difficult periods of their lives. Challenge is the defining context for leadership.

In this dynamic and engaging keynote, Jim and Barry will reveal how leaders at any level can transform difficult circumstances into opportunities for growth and success. They will offer six actionable strategies, showing how exemplary leaders turn adversity into opportunity and how they strengthen resilience and fully engage people during uncertainty, disruption, transition, recovery, new beginnings, and other significant challenges.

As a leadership development professional, your takeaways from this keynote will help you guide leaders to embrace the chance within any challenge to make a real difference.

Jim Kouzes is the Dean’s Executive Fellow of Leadership, Leavey School of Business at Santa Clara University. Barry Posner is Accolti Professor of Leadership and former Dean (1997-2009) of the Leavey School of Business, Santa Clara University. Kouzes and Posner are the authors of The Leadership Challenge, Credibility, The Truth About Leadership, A Leader’s Legacy, Encouraging the Heart, and The Student Leadership Challenge, among many other works. They also developed the highly acclaimed LPI: Leadership Practices Inventory.

ILE DE FRANCE FOYER

Community  com-mu-ni-ty(noun)
A group of people with a common background or with shared interests within society.

The Leadership Challenge community gives you the opportunity to connect and network with like-minded professionals as we learn how to become and develop better leaders. Please join us in the Ile de France Foyer for a Jim and Barry book-signing, to visit our sponsor booths, browse our bookstore, participate in Clean the World, and chat with like-minded leadership development professionals.

10:30–11:45am  Case Study Breakout Sessions

Presenters will share a story featuring practical and concrete examples of how an organization is putting The Leadership Challenge to work. The ups and downs and lessons learned in your organization’s leadership journey will be of particular interest.

Keep Climbing: How to Leverage The Leadership Challenge to Support a High Performance Leadership Culture
MAUREPAS

The case study focuses on how the Federal Reserve Bank of Kansas City utilized the concepts espoused in The Leadership Challenge to build on its reputation for developing great leaders. Specifically, the organization adopted The Five Practices and 30 LPI behaviors outlined in The Leadership Challenge as its formal leadership expectations for all members of management and integrated these concepts into performance management, leadership succession, and employee development processes. The case study discusses lessons learned and provides practical tips for leveraging The Leadership Challenge to promote a high performance leadership culture.

Josias A. Aleman serves as Vice President of Human Resources at the Federal Reserve Bank of Kansas City. He joined the Bank in 1994 and has held various staff and management positions throughout the organization. Josias holds a B.B.A. degree in Economics and an M.B.A. with an emphasis in Finance and Human Resources from the University of Oklahoma. He also is a graduate of the Stonier Graduate School of Banking.
Leadership Development in a Changing Environment: Evolving Programs to Achieve Outcomes

ORLEANS/ROSALIE/ST. CLAUDE

CenturyLink Technology Solutions’ senior/mid-level leadership program, based on The Leadership Challenge®, continues to achieve results amid tremendous organizational change. Keys to success include using The Five Practices to solve real business issues. Other components, including practical exercises, virtual “renewal” sessions, and accountability partners, have also evolved since the program first began. The results speak for themselves. After four years of pre- and post-LPI data, scores have increased 4% overall, with those participants showing improvement averaging a 23% increase. Participants have achieved higher goal and competency performance ratings than non-participants, and employee engagement survey scores related to leadership have increased yearly.

Andrea Moore, of FlashPoint, is a highly rated speaker and facilitator who brings expertise, energy, and excitement to her presentations and project work. She has supported leadership development and coaching initiatives at a number of national clients; through her work, executives and managers have demonstrated measurable performance improvements and goal achievement.

Dana Thuenemann, of CenturyLink, has over 20 years of experience in learning, leadership, and organizational development in a variety of industries, including high tech, pharmacy benefit management, telecommunications, retail, and food and beverage. At CTS she is responsible for the enterprise global leadership development strategy for emerging, front-line, mid-level, and senior-level leaders, as well as for succession planning.

Challenging the Status Quo: Tracking the Change in Our Island Community

ST. JEROME

A private non-profit/for-profit partnership between Leadership Kauai and Kupu A’e is focused on positive community growth for the island of Kauai through leadership development. Since 2004, The Leadership Challenge has been utilized on the island of Kauai as the foundation for developing leadership behaviors needed in the 21st Century. We believe the outreach of this collaboration is beginning to affect the culture and mindset of the systems in which our graduates work and the community they live. In 2007, we began tracking the LPI®: Leadership Practices Inventory results of our marquee annual leadership program and this session will relay our results.

Mason Chock is the President of Kupu A’e, a Certified Facilitator of The Student Leadership Challenge and a Certified Master Facilitator of The Leadership Challenge.

Char Ravelo is the Executive Director of Leadership Kauai and the Publisher of Inspiration Journal.

Between a Rock and a Hard Place: How to Develop Values-based Leaders Who Are Committed to Serving Public Values
CONDE/FRONTECNAC
How do you support the development of values-based leadership for those who are committed to public values? How do you help those who have committed to public service but want to have influence and their own voice? This session reviews the Legacy Leadership program and its growth over the last 3 years in the state of North Carolina: its 15-month format, its integration of traditional competencies and The Five Practices of Exemplary Leadership® model, and its focus on the challenges and rewards of public service.

Donna Warner, Director of Local Elected Leaders Academy at the University of North Carolina School of Government, specializes in leadership education and training for elected officials and public managers, board development, retreat planning and facilitation, and strategic planning.

Beth High is the President of HighRoad Consulting, a leadership development company focused on innovative approaches to developing leaders using The Leadership Challenge.

How Sustaining The Five Practices Leads to Culture Impact
ORLEANS/ROSALIE/ST. CLAUDE
Over the past several years, Fifth Third Bank of Cincinnati has gone through a purposeful and significant shift in culture, with The Five Practices of Exemplary Leadership® being a key cornerstone of this movement. During this session, we will share many of the intentional steps the Bank has taken – and continues to take – to reinforce the importance of The Five Practices, and sustain the lessons and application of them. Attendees will leave with a variety of new ways to think about – and options for more directly aligning – their leadership development efforts with the strategic growth and success of the business.

Brett Carter is a seasoned developer of senior leaders and executives. He has facilitated a multitude of Leadership Challenge programs at three different companies and has coached scores of leaders on The Five Practices to improve their effectiveness.

Steve Coats is a long-time certified master of The Leadership Challenge, having worked with the material extensively since 1987. Steve is co-owner of International Leadership Associates, who continues to develop, coach and mentor aspiring leaders from the high school classroom to the organizational boardroom.
A Great Organization Made Simply: Lessons from a D-Student (Disney, DaVita and Duke)

MAUREPAS

A story of three well-known, respected brands—three powerful, leadership-based cultures—each learned that their processes and successes begin with beliefs. Then, each identified the need for alignment and an insistence that leaders Model the way, Challenge and Enable others, and recognize achievement. Each organization, despite markedly different missions and clientele, learned, then innovated ways to adapt The Leadership Challenge® principles and practices. In this session, Bill will share his involvement and observations in helping build and fortify cultures, and a straightforward outline of key ingredients for operationalizing organizational alignment.

Bill Shannon is Director, Organizational Learning at Duke University’s DCRI, (Duke Clinical Research Institute) at the School of Medicine. He spent twenty years at Disney including Walt Disney Imagineering, was part of the concept teams that created the Disney Institute, Wide World of Sports complex, Celebration Health Hospital, and consulted with Disney corporate partners and clients worldwide. He was SVP and Chief Wisdom Officer at DaVita, a Fortune 500 health services company, and at Duke University has been a Visiting Scholar at the Fuqua School of Business, and held Director roles in the Health System, at Duke Hospital and School of Medicine.

Generational Leadership—Building a Collaborative Workspace for Five Generations

ST. JEROME

Concerns have arisen in organizations about how to lead and work with five generations. The Student Leadership Challenge® program and the classic The Leadership Challenge® program can provide a structure to create an approach to leading across these age groups. This can be combined with a generational approach, which provides knowledge about the personality, values, assets and liabilities, strategies for resolving conflicts, things that influence such as trends and events, key principles for motivating and developing employees, and establishing new structures and workspaces for employees for each of the five generations.

Dr. Jackalyn Rainosek and Liz Cloud, co-owners of Cloud-Rainosek & Associates, LP have over 40 years of knowledge and experience in working in Corporate America and public entities such as courts, police and sheriff departments. They are Certified Masters, who provide an exciting and positive perspective about working with and leading five generations.

OUCH! That Stereotype Hurts: Integration of Diversity and Inclusion into The Leadership Challenge® Workshop

ORLEANS/ROSALIE/ST. CLAUDE

In this session we will demonstrate how to integrate a diversity and inclusion model into the practice of Enable Others to Act. We will share our experience using the ground-breaking video and book, Ouch! That Stereotype Hurts, to build skills for responding when someone stereotypes or demeans others. This reinforces at least three of the LPI® behaviors: Develops Cooperative Relationships, Treats Others with Dignity and Respect, and Actively Listens to Diverse Points of View. This model is a powerful tool to help leaders communicate more effectively in a diverse world, building a more inclusive organizational culture.

Stephen Hoel, President of Diversity Leadership Consultants and a Certified Master of The Leadership Challenge, has delivered over 80 The Leadership Challenge Workshops over the last 10 years to a multitude of public and private sector audiences of all levels. Stephen and his group of collaborative facilitators operate under the premise that the best and most effective organizations and leaders of today and the future are those that create an environment where everyone can do their best work, not regardless of differences but because of differences.

Leslie Aguilar is CEO of International Training and Development, LLC and author of Ouch! That Stereotype Hurts best-selling video, Diversity & Inclusion online learning series, Diversity Competencies Assessment, and other diversity and inclusion resources. Leslie has facilitated diversity, inclusion and cultural competence workshops for over 20 years and provides customized learning solutions for a wide range of clients.

Values Based Leadership: Life on Purpose

MAUREPAS

The impetus for this session is Luck Companies 11 year journey as a Values Based Leadership organization. We define VBL as, “Living, working and leading in alignment with your core values, principles, beliefs and purpose to in turn ignite the extraordinary potential in those around you” and use it activate our values proposition of, “Doing good – making a difference in lives of our associates, is the best path to doing well – exceptional personal and business performance.” VBL attends to leader behavior and is an excellent complement to The Leadership Challenge. This session will focus on how to operationalize VBL with The Leadership Challenge in any organization.

In this role as Chief Leadership Officer for Luck Companies, Mark Fernandes is responsible for driving the strategic direction of the company’s mission to ignite human potential through Values Based Leadership (VBL), a philosophy and model that encourages employees to live, work and lead in alignment with their personal core values, principles, beliefs and purpose to in turn, ignite the extraordinary potential of those around them.

Presenting The Leadership Challenge to Global Audiences

CONDE/FRONTENAC

What if your audience is not from corporate America? What if the delegates are not in the US? What if English isn’t their first language and their culture is vastly different to the US? The opportunities to present The Leadership Challenge® globally are exciting and are growing and in this session you’ll learn how to successfully present The Leadership Challenge to diverse audiences. The leadership styles in other countries are often very different – and yet many are the same – to those that we have been used to operating with. But for a successful outcome we need not only to be mindful but flexible – whilst still true to the process. This presentation will include video and examples of successful global workshop results.

Graham Moore is the first Certified Facilitator and the first Certified Master-in-Training of The Leadership Challenge® in the Middle East. Independently validated in 2009 as being in the top 1% of facilitators globally for delivering Learning Effectiveness.

New Audiences for Your Expertise: Leveraging Your Experience with The Leadership Challenge to Grow Next Generation Leaders

ST. JEROME

This session, from two educators, and one who has trained on The Five Practices in the non-profit sector, will discuss how The Leadership Challenge professionals can consider bringing their expertise to other audiences such as students and youth. Perhaps you currently work as a professional trainer for a company and you are interested in training in your local schools or universities, or can find a business segment in community youth organizations such as Scouts, sports teams and 4-H, etc. The value of The Leadership Challenge is that it stands up in such a wide variety of situations and with so many different groups! This session will focus on strategies and approaches in coaching and action planning through the LPI: Leadership Practices Inventory to help you find the right approach and tools for a much different audience of leaders.

Gary Morgan is Manager of Digital Products and Services for Student Leadership at Wiley.
Amanda Itliong is Director of the Center for Student Leadership, Ethics & Public Service at North Carolina State University.

Courageous Leadership
Courage is the first virtue of organizational performance, because it's the lifeblood of leadership, entrepreneurship and innovation. In other words, it is vital to the practice of Challenge the Process. This session will provide practical strategies for building workforce courage so workers can become “opportunity seekers”. Courage-building will be explained as a strategy for improving performance and counteracting the negative impacts of workplace fear. When everyone is working with more courage, the entire organization is transformed for the better. Research shows that courageous workers seek out leadership opportunities, step up to challenges, offer innovative ideas, passionately embrace change, and are more productive. In short, courageous workers get work done!

As a result of this session, you will:
• Understand why courage is a premier personal and professional virtue
• Learn about research on the debilitating impacts that fear has on performance
• Be able to differentiate between two different leadership dispositions, Fillers (encouragement) and Spillers (discouragement)
• Be versed in the distinct types of courage (TRY, TRUST, and TELL)
• Understand how to create an environment that supports courageous behavior

Bill Treasurer is a leadership expert and the originator of the new organizational development practice of courage-building. He is also the author of several books, including the international best-seller Courage Goes to Work and the recently released Leaders Open Doors. Bill is also the author of the off-the-shelf facilitator training program (published by Wiley), Courageous Leadership: A Program for Using Courage to Transform the Workplace.

Bill is the chief encouragement officer at Giant Leap Consulting (GLC), a courage-building company that helps people and organizations live more courageously. Bill has conducted more than five hundred corporate workshops designed to strengthen people's leadership skills and improve team performance. He has led workshops and webinars for such organizations as Accenture, UBS Bank, CDC, NASA, Center for Creative Leadership, U.S. Forest Service, CNN, Monster.com, SPANX, and the U.S. Department of Veterans Affairs. He is also serves as the board chair of Leadership Asheville, a community-based leadership program.

No Excuses

Change is exhilarating, renewing, and developmental. Why, then, when we are faced with the opportunity to lead a positive change, is the first inclination is often to slow down, focus on obstacles, and make excuses? Leaders aiming to make their good workplaces into great ones will often talk first about the lack of commitment and resources, the push and pull of organizational demands, the limitations of their industry or functional area, organizational complexity or other legacy issues, and even the employees themselves as difficulties and obstacles to the work they know they can, should, and eventually will do. While excuse making is human, the ability to turn excuses into fuel is a fundamental leadership skill needed to Challenge the Process and lead change.

In this talk, author and Great Place to Work® Research Fellow Jennifer Robin will discuss practices from managers and leaders who have done just that, adopting mindsets and overcoming challenges to sustaining their great workplace. Participants will leave with a renewed commitment to moving from a good place to work to a great one, along with some helpful tips for getting (re)started on the journey.

Jennifer Robin is a management faculty member in the Foster College of Business at Bradley University. She teaches in undergraduate, MBA, and executive programs in the areas of leadership, organizational culture, and strategic human resources management. She has co-authored three books, a forthcoming book entitled, No Excuses: How You Can Turn Any Workplace into a Great One, The Great Workplace: How to Build It, How to Keep It, and Why It Matters (2011) and A Life in Balance: Finding Meaning in a Chaotic World (2006). Her many research interests include how employees form productive bonds with their organizations, and the behaviors required by leaders to build trust in their organizations.

A Healthcare Model for Caring Leadership

ORLEANS

Our Caring Leadership Model © blends the Caring Science work of Dr. Jean Watson and The Leadership Challenge® work of Drs. Kouzes and Posner. This is a case study of the work that has been completed by participants in our Caring Leadership Curriculum. This program includes 15 hours of coursework followed by a presentation of a project that demonstrates the integration of Caring Leadership into the participants’ practice and their departments. We have been working with this model since 2007 and currently over 200 leaders have completed our program. This session will demonstrate outcomes from their work.

Judy B. McDowell, MSN, RN – Judy is currently Professional Practice Manager at Wake Forest Baptist Health; has over 30 years of healthcare administration experience and 10 years of professional education experience. Judy is original author of Caring Leadership Model© and has 2 articles published on this topic.

Leadership Development in a Changing Environment: Evolving Programs to Achieve Outcomes

ORLEANS/ROSALE/ST. CLAUDE

The Leadership Challenge is playing a key role in WA’s effort to “reinvent government” and bring greater effectiveness, efficiency and accountability. This story is unique and relevant because The Leadership Challenge is being used as the foundation for a holistic culture change effort. This is not “The Leadership Challenge as a leadership program” but rather “The Leadership Challenge as how everyone in our organization should act.” Over 1,000 leaders have been introduced to the model, and over 500 people have used the LPI®.

This story is particularly interesting and engaging because the state initially started their work using only tools from Lean Management. Since adding The Leadership Challenge, commitment levels to the initiative have increased substantially, and the early adopter agencies are experiencing excellent results.

Because the effort involves so many different state and local agencies, this case study will share many techniques that are being used to take TLC to “all levels”. Examples include: using a combination of small- and large-group workshops, blending concepts with strategic planning sessions and process improvement projects, adding references into change management communications, distributing “thank you cards,” facilitating a 12-month leadership development program that utilizes learning pods, webinars, online discussion groups and pre- and post-LPI assessment.

Darrell Damron is the strategic lead of the Governor’s Results Washington office, a group charged with guiding the effort to bring greater efficiency, effectiveness and accountability to government agencies throughout Washington.

Brett Cooper is Managing Partner of Integris Performance Advisors. Integris is using TLC concepts in innovative new ways to help clients build healthier organizations and great places to work.
DETAILED AGENDA - FRIDAY, JUNE 20

Accelerating Innovation with The Leadership Challenge®
MAUREPAS

How do you transform a dream into a reality? In 1994, David Baker attended a Leadership Challenge® seminar and was so impressed with the material that he later became a certified trainer and implemented The Leadership Challenge® at Viad Corp. He also reviewed the LPI® report to identify strengths and opportunities. As a result, his team established a program to support this initiative, specifically the practice of Challenge the Process, to provide the foundation for innovation in the organization. Viad Corp also reviewed its LPI® report to identify areas for improvement and selected specific behaviors, some drawn directly from the LPI, that they believed would lead to an increased level of innovation in the organization.

This session will explain how a focus on those behaviors lead to an online innovation idea repository, a new recognition program, a digital interview series with innovators from Google to Cirque du Soleil and a poster champagne that tells the success stories of our real-life innovators.

Melissa Lanier is a Certified Master-in-Training of The Leadership Challenge and The Director of Global Talent Management at Viad Corp. She is an experienced facilitator, writer and speaker whose corporate career has included positions with Deloitte, Blue Cross and Blue Shield of Florida and Insight Enterprises. Her expertise is in the related areas of leadership development, employee engagement, change leadership, and organizational culture.

George Hines is passionate about improving lives through the creative use of technology. As the Chief Information Officer of Viad Corp, he is the leader of a global IT organization and the Executive Sponsor of Viad’s Innovation program. His specialties include Customer Tech Innovation, M&A, Outsourcing / Offshoring and Organizational Transformation.

Utilizing Outsight to Challenge the Process
CONDE/FRONTENAC

SAS has implemented several initiatives to increase leaders’ practice of outsight across the organization. In this practical session, we will share our story of internally developed initiatives such as leadership podcasts, virtual learning, lunch work sessions, panel discussions with SAS leaders, social media, and guest speakers to search for opportunities to improve their personal leadership and organizational performance.

Missy Makanui leads the Leadership Development Team at SAS Institute. She has been with SAS for over 20 years and has helped to develop the leadership development strategy to lead SAS to Fortune’s 2014 Best Place to Work #2 ranking. Missy has been utilizing The Leadership Challenge in her work for the past 4 years and the LPI for over 12 years.

“I Accept Your Challenge…” Activities that Teach

MAUREPAS

Participants of The Leadership Challenge® Workshop regularly state that the activities they did during the workshop were fun, enlightening and valuable teaching tools. During this interactive session, participants will take part in three activities that can be used by instructors or facilitators to enhance their classes. After participating in each of the activities, there will be a group discussion of how the activities can be used to reinforce each of The Five Practices of Exemplary Leadership®.

Activities include: “Under the Sheet”, “Keyboarding” and “Phone a Friend”

Gordon Houston is a seasoned Learning and Development professional with over 15 years’ experience designing and delivering leadership programs. Beginning his career as a high school teacher, Gordon now uses his passion for education by championing learning experiences within multi-national corporations. Gordon has designed leadership programs for the financial services, retail, and automotive industries, and today leads the global L&D team within Kal Tire, Canada’s largest independent tire dealer, with over 400 locations in 19 countries.

Mindful Leadership for Challenging the Process: Paying Attention in a World of Distractions

ST. JEROME

Focusing attention in a world of distractions is an essential mental tool of sustaining the practice of leadership excellence. This session will address the “why” and “how to” of making space for creativity, decision making, innovation and connectedness, through leadership mindfulness. Participants will be introduced to the brain science of sharpening attention and focus and leave with available and practical exercises that support deliberate practice.

Holly Seaton, Ph.D. Managing Partner, Sonoma Leadership Systems

As coaching practice leader and a consulting psychologist, Holly is dedicated to helping leaders build the capacity and resilience to lead, as they take steps to move from intent to action. Her expertise in best practices of leadership development helps organizations get the most from their leadership initiatives.

Improve Your Workshop: New Tools & Techniques for Challenging the Process

ORLEANS/ROSALIE/ST. CLAUDE

There is always room in your toolbox for new techniques for Challenging the Process. Thanks to our connection to Lean Process Improvement, we have a full suite of concepts that can be added in to any The Leadership Challenge® program. During this session, we will present the what, why and how of A3 Thinking, Fishbone Diagrams, and the Five Whys.

Evans Kerrigan, Managing Partner at Integris, has over 20 years of experience with leadership development and process improvement techniques.

Tracy O’Rourke, Managing Partner with Integris, is an expert trainer and facilitator, with specialization in methods including Strategic Planning, Lean Improvement and TLC.

Aligning Personal and Organizational Values
ORLEANS/ROSALIE/ST. CLAUDE
Model the Way addresses the impact of clarity of both personal and organizational values on commitment to the organization’s mission. This session goes beyond the traditional card sort to demonstrate how to clarify organizational values and explore to what extent the participants’ personal values align with the organizational values. The activity becomes a great basis for discussing clarity/alignment of values, responsibilities as leaders, and how values can drive innovation.

Steve Houchin is the managing partner of International Leadership Associates, the company who presented the very first in-company Leadership Challenge Workshop in 1987. Steve is a Certified Master TLC Facilitator and has enjoyed a 25 relationship with TLC and its authors.

Be the First to Know – All About EPIC, Beta-testing, and a Next Generation LPI®
ST. JEROME
While not strictly an activity session, The Leadership Challenge® team would like to take the opportunity to share with you some exciting items on our horizon. At this session you will learn more about our Product Development group’s iterative process. They will give attendees insight on a new LPI experience currently in development, cover the basics of the EPIC platform on which the product would be delivered, and will discuss opportunities for interested parties to participate in beta-testing of this new offering.

Holly Allen is Associate Director, Product Development leading the Wiley San Francisco-based product development team. Her career in publishing educational materials for adult learning spans 21 years. In her current role, she is focused on developing content around three main brands including The Leadership Challenge using a highly iterative and agile development process.

Jidana James is the Customer Experience Manager for Wiley. She helped to develop the beta testing program that has grown to become an integral part of Wiley’s product development process. Every year Jidana conducts hundreds of interviews and reads thousands of survey responses with a single goal in mind: to understand the customer. She works with Product Development, Marketing, and IT to ensure that every Wiley customer—at every level—has an exemplary experience with Wiley’s products and services.
Win as Much as You Can - A Real World Simulation

MAUREPAS

This session explores the dynamics of “winning at all costs” in a simulation. Teams are created which take up residence in distinct corners of the training room. Without consultation, teams are asked to “make a play” in the simulation on their way to winning as much as they can as a team. The simulation consists of seven rounds. After rounds three and five, “negotiators” are chosen from each team to try to make the best possible deal for their team. The stakes get higher as the simulation progresses. Key lessons about Model the Way, Inspire a Shared Vision, and Challenge the Process are central to the powerful lesson of this simulation.

Jazz it Up!

This highly interactive and entertaining session brings attendees and presenters together one final time to reflect on the practice of Challenge the Process, an underlying theme of this year’s programming. Relating innovation and experimentation to the musical creative process, we will explore songwriting via group exercises and ultimately produce our own, unique tune to be performed by professional musicians. Won’t you join us to close the Forum on a high note?

Leland Russell has created many high-impact leadership events that blend music and multimedia. He is a longtime member of the Recording Academy and during his career he has co-written music with and has produced concerts for many top entertainers.

Craig Cortello is an accomplished jazz guitarist and the author of “Everything We Needed to Know About Business, We Learned Playing Music.” In his presentations, Craig articulates the universal lessons of music and how they relate to innovation and experimentation.

Matt Lemmler is an multi-talented jazz pianist, vocalist, producer and educator. As a pianist for Andrew Lloyd Weber’s musical, “The Phantom of the Opera,” Matt toured the U.S. for 4 years before returning home to work with New Orleans jazz legend, Pete Fountain.
